NARWHAL

Narwhals are fascinating creatures that live in the icy waters of the Arctic. They are often called the "unicorns of the sea" because of their long, spiral tusk that can grow up to 10 feet long. Despite their name, narwhals are actually a type of whale and not mythical creatures.

Narwhals have a unique appearance with their mottled gray skin and a dorsal fin that is set far back on their bodies. They have a streamlined shape which helps them swim gracefully through the cold ocean waters.
